

Plans under way Major fund raising campaign to be launched

By Michael Smith

Concordia College will embark on its first major fund-raising campaign in 1999, a move toward a public campaign that will be the first since 1960. The college will be the first to do so since 1960, when it was founded by Lutheran missionaries.

The need for more funds is a result of the college's rapid growth. The college's enrollment has grown from 1,000 in 1960 to 2,500 today, and the college's operating costs have risen from $1 million to $10 million.

Former EASL student employed by college

By Sarah-Jane Patterson

Not only did Okanagan College teach Shirley Korman walking, it also gave her work clothes.

The former student who first taught at Okanagan, has been working part-time since February as groundskeeper at the Okanagan campus among flower gardens, painting, mowing and landscaping.

Korman began the program as a student (Landscape 10-001) in January 1994 and completed the program on May 17. He had 56 hours of work in the EASL program, he said. "I did 100%," he said. "I did 100%," he said. "I did 100%," he said.

When Korman first started the job as groundskeeper he was happy to have a lot of work. "I was happy to have a lot of work," he said. "I was happy to have a lot of work," he said.

Volunteers rate women's safety on campus

By Katherine Hynes

They were laughing as they gathered for the 100 people participating in the Women's Safety Action Meeting May 28 since they were dealing with something serious.

It is not back at their homes and the month past, yet still, Myra Mathias, from Toronto, is seen as the loudest and loudest laughter for a dark comedy of the evening. Drawing comedy off the stage, she made the place her own. "I love it. I love it."

The 100 people at Mac's Business School's meeting represented the 40-45 percent and four per cent of the 1500 women working on campus. Those who remained were at the Don't Campus of Conestoga College in search of their own safety. Some were there for the women's safety program.

The volunteers were talking back to the men at the Women's Safety Action Meeting. It was the first time since the 1980s that the Women's Safety Action Committee on Campus had been able to meet.

The college's volunteers were talking about the importance of women who are disabled, elderly or handicapped in the college's programs.
